

AUTOMATIC SCAN SENSOR IMAGE PROCESSING

ABSTRACT

A device that scans an image from source media automatically detects the source media type being scanned. Interpretation of scanned data may be automatically adjusted based on the source media type sensed. In this way, the quality of the scanned data and the images produced from it can be improved by making 5 adjustments appropriate to the source media type scanned.